Branches

(Northern Japan Branch, Nagoya Branch, Kansai Branch)

At SOFCO, we operate three branches in order to sell a wide range of products throughout Japan. The Northern Japan Branch serves the Tohoku and Hokkaido regions. The Nagoya Branch serves the Chubu and Tokai region. The Kansai Branch serves the Kinki region and west of it to Okinawa.

Branches

Nagoya Branch
The Nagoya Branch develops, imports, and supplies marine products, agricultural products, and processed food products tailored to customers' requirements. Leveraging sourcing and production capabilities in Japan, China, Vietnam, Thailand, and other countries, we identify the most suitable location for product development and manufacturing to achieve the optimal balance of quality, cost, and supply stability.
By utilizing our extensive procurement network and expertise in international sourcing, we provide customers with high-quality products and reliable supply solutions that meet the diverse needs of the food industry.

Kansai Branch
The Kansai Branch handles not only basic food ingredients such as sugar, sweeteners, and starches, but also the development and import of dry grocery products manufactured in Thailand and China. In addition, it deals in frozen prepared foods and food ingredients for food-processing factories, including tuna and corn.

Northern Japan Branch
The Northern Japan Branch serves customers primarily across the Hokkaido and Tohoku regions, providing food ingredients and processed food products to a wide range of sectors, including foodservice operators, ready-to-eat meal providers, mass retailers, and food manufacturers.
By leveraging the extensive network of the Sojitz Group, we contribute to the creation of value in the food industry and ensure a stable supply of products through optimized sourcing, efficient logistics solutions, and tailored product proposals that meet the diverse needs of our customers.
